Bremer Restaurant: Allergen and Dietary Guide

Important safety statement

Bremer has not published a complete official allergen table. The information in this guide was derived from the ingredients listed for each dish. It is not an official allergen declaration and it can be incomplete.

A dish that is not listed under an allergen is NOT guaranteed to be free of it. Cross-contact in a shared kitchen is possible. Guests with allergies or intolerances must call 19113 and confirm with the restaurant before ordering. The assistant never promises that a dish is safe for an allergy.

How the hints were derived

Each dish description was checked for ingredients that commonly contain the 14 major allergens, for example cheese and cream for milk, mayonnaise and ranch for eggs, tahini for sesame, cashews and Nutella for tree nuts, oyster sauce for shellfish and soy, and bread, pasta, dough, tortillas, noodles and breaded chicken for gluten. Peanuts, celery, lupin, molluscs and sulphites were not identified in any listed ingredient, which does not prove they are absent.
